VOL. XVIII.] FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1817. [No 5066,

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1817.

From the Georgetown Messenger.

We select the following lines from the National Intelligencer, the author of which must either have intended to injure Lord Byron, or was trying how far he might impose on the credulity of the American public. Those who have read the masterly works of Lord B. with attention, we are persuaded would at once detect the forgery. We do not conceive these lines to be destitute of poetic merit though the sentiments they contain are directly are variance with the feelings of every good citizen, particularly of Lord Byron himself.

LINES,

Said to have been written by Lord Byron, in explanation of his mysterious divorce.

In gaping wonderment let little men
Ope their dim eyes, and gaze in transport wild,
And puzzle their dull wits, to ken
The reason why I left my wife and child:
Tell the fond fools that men like me despise
All common rules, all vulgar social ties.

Was it for ME, a poet and a peer,
To cramp my genius by those dotard rules
(The brood of craft, of folly, or pale fear)
Invented by old knaves to gull young fools;
Or truckle to the farce of marriage vows,
To which the poor priest-ridden idiot bows?

Can genius bear the calm of wedded life,
The cloying sweets of constant happiness, [strife,
Nor pine for anguish, pain, regret or
Loathing the offspring's smile, the wife's caress? [priz'd,
Such joys as these by common souls are
And, being common, ought to be despis'd.

To be a poet, and be happy too, [chief;
Is to be wretched, past low men's be-
For who with smiles the mourning muse can woo, [grief?
Or win her grace, save in the garb of
Men, pitying poets, whom they can't admire, [fire,
Give to their tears, what they refuse their

'Tis said that genius, like the quenchless fire [and heav'n,
That gives the light to stars, to earth
A precious boon by man's immortal sire,
To guide the world to happiness, was giv'n;
To paint the joys of innocence below,
And make all hearts with love of virtue glow;

To sing in verse, immortal as the theme
Of heav'n's sweet mercy, justice, goodness, truth; [beam,
To light of feeling the bright glowing
In torpid age and breast of lusty youth;
To make us fear the Being thron'd above,
And all the creatures of his bounty love.

Perish the thought! Genius is not a star
Forever fix'd, and brigat'ning in one sphere,
But a mad comet, with the spheres at war,
Eccentric, swift, and dangerous to be near;
It guides no trav'ler in his journey lone—
Its use a riddle, and its end unknown.

'Tis a bright gift, to lead some wretch astray;
To make men wonder, pity or despise;
To comfort fools, who never feel its ray,
And call the tears from wisdom's watchful eye, [giv'n,
That weeps to see the choicest boon e'er
Misus'd, to mar the master-works of Heav'n.

Then farewell off-spring, wife and tedious home;
I reck not of you, to the world I'm dear;
My tears are all for Tasso's hapless doom;
Regardless of the husband or the sire:
So belles and critics praise my idlest verse, [ther's curse?
Who heeds the off-spring's cries, the mo-

Original Miscellany.

LORD BYRON.

We perused with concern and astonishment the lines published in the National Intelligencer on the 21st of last month, surreptitiously said to be written by lord Byron in explanation of his "mysterious divorce." With concern, because, taking it for granted, as every one who has much read the compositions of lord Byron must, that he never wrote them, it does us no credit to have such a forgery go to Europe from this country; and with astonishment, because we consider the motives for such a publication as hard to be accounted for in human infirmity. Admirers of the genius of lord Byron, we have often lamented the misfortunes which fell upon his youth, and the melancholy which had clouded his life; and we lamented them the more because the result of much reading and inquiry about him is, that, however eccentric, he is a man of the noblest personal endowments. The perusal of those lines called to our recollection all that we had read about his divorce; in which, though the particulars that led to that deplorable event were not handed over to newspaper paragraphists for the sport of the malignant slanderers of the world, there was nothing to inculpate him in any unfeeling charge of ungenerous or dishonorable conduct;—while the bountifulness of his nature and the extreme sensibility of his heart secured him from unworthy surmises, except from the unworthy. Having also recollected to have read, in a review of high reputation, which could not be suspected of partiality to him, because it is established upon and advocates political opinions opposite to his, bestows a very exalted character of his lordship, we were at the pains to look out for the particular volume of that work which contained it, and were lucky enough to get it into our hands on Friday, at the very same hour that the arrival of the National Intelligencer put us in possession of a very sensible and (we will say it) generous essay censuring the lines and repelling the assertion that they were lord Byron's.—We, therefore, immediately resolved to publish that piece in the place of what we intended to write ourselves, and along with it extracts from the review we allude to, for the purpose of undeceiving the public, and of suggesting to the publisher of the lines the propriety of stating what the name of the publication was from which he took them, in order to shift the odium of the forgery from this country, if it did not originate here, to that in which it was fabricated.

For the extract which we offer for the purpose of presenting lord Byron in a more just point of view to the public, our readers of reflection and taste will be thankful, on account of the beauty of the writing, the nice discrimination of character, and the generous feeling with which it is fraught; and particularly as it contains an admirable history of him and his muse, and it will be the more satisfactory because coming from a quarter where no partiality can be supposed to exist—the truth of the portrait will be more readily acknowledged.

"It has been reserved for our own time to produce one distinguished example of the muse having descended upon a bard of a wounded spirit, and lent her lyre to tell, and we trust to soothe afflictions of no ordinary description—afflictions originating probably in that singular combination of feeling which has been called the portical temperment, and which has so often saddened the days of those on whom it has been conferred. If ever a man could lay claim to the character in all its strength and all its weakness, with its unbounded range of enjoyment and its exquisite sensibility of pleasure and pain, it must certainly be granted to lord Byron. Nor does it require much time or acquaintance with human nature to discover why these extraordinary powers should in many cases have contributed more to the wretchedness than to the happiness of their possessor."

"The 'imagination all compact,' which the greatest poet who ever lived has assigned as the distinguishing badge of his brethren, is in every case a dangerous gift. It exaggerates, indeed, our expectations, and can often bid its possessor hope where hope is lost to reason; but the delusive pleasure arising from these visions of imagination resembles that of a child whose notice is attracted by a fragment of glass, to which a sun beam has given momentary splendor. He hastens to the spot with breathless impatience, and finds the object of his curiosity and expectation is equally vulgar and worthless. Such is the man of quick and exalted powers of imagination. His fancy over estimates the object of his wishes, and pleasure, fame, distinction, are alternately pursued, attained, and despised, when in his power. Like the enchanted fruit in the palace of a sorcerer, the objects of his admiration lose their attraction and value as soon as they are grasped by the adventurer's hand, and all that remains is regret for the time lost in the chase, and astonishment at the hallucination under the influence of which it was undertaken. The disproportion between hope and possession which is felt by all men, is thus doubled to those whom nature has endowed with the power of gilding a distant prospect by the rays of imagination. These reflections, though trite and obvious, are in a manner forced from us by the poetry of lord Byron, by the sentiments of weariness of life, and disgust with the world, which they so frequently express, and by the singular analogy which such sentiments hold with incidents in his life so recently before the public. The works before us contain so many direct allusions to the author's personal feelings and private history, that it becomes impossible for us to divide lord Byron from his poetry, or to offer our criticism upon the continuation of Childe Harold, without reverting to the circumstances in which the commencement of that singular and original work first appeared."

"Distinguished by title and descent from an illustrious line of ancestry, lord Byron showed, even in his earliest years, that nature had added to those advantages the richest gifts of genius and fancy. His own tale is partly told in two lines of LARA—

'Left by his sire, too young such loss to know,
Lord of himself, that heritage of woe.'

"His first literary adventure and its fate are well remembered. The poems which he published in his minority, had indeed those faults of conception and diction, which are inseparable from juvenile attempts, and in particular might rather be considered as imitations of what had caught the ear and fancy of the youthful author, than as exhibiting originality of conception and expression. Yet, though there were many, and those not bad judges who discerned in them a depth of thought and felicity of expression which promised much at a more mature age, the errors did not escape the critical lash; and certain brethren of ours yielded to the opportunity of pouncing upon a titled author, and to that which most readily besets our fraternity, and to which we dare not pronounce ourselves wholly inaccessible, namely, the temptation of showing our wit, and entertaining our readers with a lively article without much respect to the feelings of the author, or even to the indications of merit which the work may exhibit. The Review was read and raised mirth; the poems were neglected, the author was irritated, and took his revenge in keen iambics,* not only on the offending critics, but on many others in whose conduct or writings the juvenile Bard found cause of offence. The Satire, which has been since suppressed, as containing opinions hastily expressed, exhibited a spirit at least sufficiently poignant for all the purposes of reprisal, and bore a strong testimony to the ripening talents of the author. Having thus vented his indignation against the critics and their readers, and put many, if not all the laughers on his side, Lord Byron went abroad, and the controversy was forgotten for some years."

PROMOTIONS.

The following promotions, (says the Boston Dai. Advertiser) have lately been made of officers in the Navy:

Capt. Alexander S. Wadsworth, Captain of the U. S. ship Independence.

Lieut. Wm. B. Finch, to command the U. S. brig Prometheus

Lieut. John R. Madison, to command the U. S. schooner Lynx, vice Lieut. Storer, ordered to the Congress.

WARDEN'S LETTERS.

It is stated in late London papers, that an answer by Bonaparte to the book published by Mr. Warden, is received and will speedily be published. The paper adds, that it serves to throw light on some of the most important transactions in history.

HORRID.

According to the table describing the civil state of Sweden, 344 children at the breast were, during the year 1814, smothered by their mothers or nurses while asleep: and in the following year the number of innocent victims who died through this kind of imprudence amounted to 369.

SICKNESS AT NEW-ORLEANS.

The New-Orleans paper of the 4th ult. cautions the inhabitants of that city, then absent, not to be induced to return by the cool state of the weather. "The disease, adds the Editor, still continues. Strangers arriving are as liable to take it, as they were in the month of August; and, as the season advances, the cases become more virulent." The absent citizens are, therefore advised not to return, until after a severe Nov. frost.

EMIGRATION.

Never, says a paper, printed at Frankfort, Kentucky—Never did the tide of emigration set more strongly to the south and west than during the present season. We not only witness the current continually passing by us accumulating as it rolls on, but hear of the astonishing effects produced in the lately savage wilderness. In the Missouri and Illinois, settlements are rapidly extending, and in the Alabama, St. Stephens & the town of Blakely have opened new sources of wealth and commerce. In the former place a steam boat is already building to navigate the Mobile, and to the latter ships have commenced a trade from the city of New-York. The time is not far distant when these three territories will add as many new stars to our constellation of free states.

PROSPERITY OF THE WESTERN STATES.

It is stated in the Nashville paper of the 10th of October, that exports from West Tennessee to N. Orleans, amounted, during the last year, to more than a million and a half of dollars. The following is a list of the kinds and value of the articles exported:—

10,000 hhds tobacco	$1,000 000
1500 bales cotton	100,000
Pork and beef	50,000
Butter, lard and tallow	25,000
Corn and vegetables	50,000
Sundries	200,000
Castings	20,000
Horses, sheep, & beef cattle	100,000

SOMETHING NEW.

A Tyrolean has lately invented at Vienna, a machine for needle work, by which it is said every kind of sewing may be executed with the utmost precision. The emperor of Austria has granted a patent to the inventor.

VERMONT.

The Legislature of this state are in very tranquil session. To avoid all cause of party irritation, it was voted, 109 to 77, not to answer Governor Galusha's speech. Among the subjects before them, are propositions for incorporating Banks at Windsor, Burlington and Windham—(there is not now any Bank in Vermont) and a resolution for appropriating a sum of money annually for the education of the Deaf and Dumb. The House consists of 198 members. [Boston pap.

Trenton, Nov. 3.

LEGISLATURE OF NEW-JERSEY.

On the 28th ult. the legislature of this state convened at Trenton, as will be seen by the minutes of assembly published in this week's paper.

Quorums of both houses appeared on the 1st day of meeting. Jesse Upson, esq. member from Morris, was elected vice-president of council, and James Linn, esq. secretary.

Ebenezer Elmer, esq. member from Cumberland, was elected speaker of the house of assembly, and Daniel Coleman, clerk.

On the 1st inst. both houses of the legislature were convened in joint-meeting for the choice of governor and other state and county officers, when the following appointments took place:—

Isaac Williamson, governor.
Andrew Kirkpatrick, chief justice.
Theodore Frelinghuisen, atty. gen.

METEOR.

On the evening of the 13th inst. about 11 o'clock, a meteor passed over the town of Genesee. Its course was almost directly north. Meteorologists would probably call it one of the aerolithi, (or stones of the air) which have, more frequently of late, visited the earth. Our informant, who, with some other persons, was returning from a singing school, witnessed the phenomenon. He stated that from extreme darkness the horison was suddenly enlightened, so that the smallest objects were distinctly discernable, or to use his own words, "I could see to pick up a pin in the road." Looking up, the blazing train which followed the aerolith, seemed to him twelve or fourteen feet in length. A part of the nucleus broke off, separated, and was followed by a shorter blaze, which, however, was soon extinguished. The principal one was out of sight in a few seconds. The company, after walking some rods, heard an explosion which resembled the rumbling of thunder. It was also heard distinctly in this village, and probably other places in this vicinity.

A GRECIAN DINNER.

Dr. Clarke, in his "Travels," gives the following portrait of a Grecian banquet which the archon of Lebadea gave to him and his companions:—

"Fowls boiled to rags, but still tough and swingy, and killed only an hour before they are dressed, constitute a principal dish, all heaped together upon a large copper or pewter salver, placed upon a low stool, round which the guests sit upon cushions; the place of honor being on that side where the long couch of the divan extends along the whitewashed wall.—A long and course towel, very ill washed, about twelve inches wide, is spread around the table in one entire piece, over the knees of the party seated. Wine is only placed before strangers—the rest of the company receiving only a glass each of very bad wine of the desert. Brandy is handed about before sitting down to table. All persons who partake of the meal, wash their hands in the room, both before and after eating.—A girl with naked and dirty feet, enters the apartment, throwing to every one a napkin; she is followed by a second damsel, who goes to every guest, and kneeling before him upon one knee, presents a pewter water pot and pewter basin, covered with a grill, upon the top of which there is a bowl of soup. An exhibition rather of a disgusting nature, however cleanly, then takes place; for having made a lather with the soup, they fill their mouths with this, and squirt it, mixed with saliva, into the basin. The ladies of the family also do the same—lathering their lips and teeth, and displaying their arms, during the operation of the washing, with studied attitudes, and a great deal of affectation—as if taught to consider the movements of ablution as a time when they may appear to great advantage.—Then the master of the house takes his seat, his wife sitting by his side, at the circular tray; and stripping his arm quite bare, by turning back the sleeves of his tunic towards his shoulders, he serves out the soup and the meat. Only one dish is placed upon the table at the same time. If it contains butcher's meat or poultry, he tears it into pieces with his fingers.—During meals the meat is always torn with the fingers. Knives and spoons are little used, and they are never changed. When meat or fish is brought in, the host squeezes a lemon over the dish. The room all this while is filled with girls belonging to the house and other menial attendants, all appearing with naked feet—also with a mixed company of priests, physicians, and strangers, visiting the family.—All these are admitted upon the raised part of the floor, or divan—below are collected meaner dependants, peasants, old women who are allowed to sit there upon the floor, and converse together."

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR AMERICAN DISTRESSES.

Proposed four and sixty years ago, and as much to be relied on as the best prescriptions of Hippocrates or Galen.

1. When you incline to have new clothes, look first well over the old ones, and see if you cannot shift with them another year, either by scouring, mending, or even patching, if necessary. Remember a patch on your coat and money in your pocket, are better and more creditable, than a writ on your back, and no money to take it off—and when you must buy clothes let them, I beseech you, be the produce of your own country; they will keep you as warm and perhaps last as long as the best pieces of cloth manufactured in G. Britain.

2. When you incline to buy China ware, chintzes, Indies silks, or any such baubles, I would not be so hard with you as to insist on your absolutely resolving against it; all I advise is to put it off (as you do your repentance) till another year—and this in some respects may prevent an occasion of repentance.

3. If you are now a drinker of punch, wine, ale, tea or coffee twice a day, drink them but once a day for the ensuing year. If you now drink them but once a day, do it once every other day. If you do it but once a week, reduce the practice to once a fortnight. And if you do not exceed the quantity as you lessen the times, half your expense in these articles will be saved.

4. And lastly, when you intend to drink rum, fill the glass half with water. If paper money, in ever so great quantities could be made, no man can get any of it for nothing; but all he saves in this way, will be his own for nothing. Then the merchant's old and doubtful debts may be paid off and trading become sure hereafter, if not extensive.

THE SHAM EMPEROR.

In our extracts yesterday from the French papers, it was stated that an extraordinary trial had just been concluded at Travoux, of one Jean Charney, who had been condemned to five years' imprisonment, a fine of fifty francs, five years' superintendance by the Police, and a forfeiture of his civil rights for ten years, for having assumed the name of the Usurper, the Ex-Emperor, and circulating alarming intelligence. The adventures of the sham Emperor, as they appear from the evidence, are amusing enough. A village bellman having, as the most proper of all personages we suppose to keep a great state secret: been informed by one of the impostor's confederates, that the great Napoleon had arrived in the country and was actually concealed in the confederate's house, he solicited and obtained the high honor of a confidential introduction to his majesty.—"Come," said the Imperial Pretender, "come my good old man—you have long wished to see your Emperor—behold him now."—The honest bellman at these words, fell upon his knees, when his Majesty, not forgetting the noble simplicity ascribed to his prototype, entreated him to rise, emphatically remarking "that he was but a man as well as himself." Afterwards he gave himself openly out as the Ex-Emperor, told every where that the King of Morocco, the Emperor of Persia, and the grand Sultan of the Turks, had generally leagued to restore him to his throne—that their armies were already on the frontiers, and would soon overrun all France.—"How wonderful it is (says the Public Prosecutor) that people could be found to believe in such imposture—that they should give their confidence to such miserable fools rather than to wise and honorable men?" It is indeed wonderful—and the melancholly fact serves to shew how much of the old revolutionary tuition still remains to be corrected among the people of France.

Tayloring.

THE subscriber, willing to do all in his power to give satisfaction to his many and respectable friends, has prevailed on a gentleman, going to the southward, to commence business as a taylor and habit maker, to stay the winter with him in Alexandria. He will attend on gentlemen at his shop on King-street, next door to Doctors Semmes & Washington.

N. B. To make it more agreeable to my particular friends the Ladies, I have opened a shop on Royal-street, opposite Mr. Peter Sherron's store, where I shall attend to their commands, in making of Habits, Pelisses, Cloaks, Mantles, and other appendages of dress generally made by the subscriber.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, about 2000 acres of land in Fairfax county, not more than from seven to nine miles from Alexandria. The property is well watered, has a sufficiency of wood, and (judging from the condition of small and well cultivated farms that adjoin it,) it is highly susceptible of improvement.—It is at present divided into tenements, of from one to two hundred acres, each provided with a dwelling house, out houses, a garden and orchard; and might, of course, be laid off into four or five very compact farms The principal object of the subscriber, being the introduction of a good system of husbandry into his neighbourhood, he will sell on very moderate terms, give a long credit on the whole amount of the purchase money, and require no other interest, than what the present rent of the land pays, being about 8 per cent. on its estimated value.

Notice

To the Creditors of the Family of the late CARTER, deceased.

Gentlemen,

IT has become expedient for me to solicit of you further time in which I may discharge the balances yet due to you; and meanwhile that you would forbear to institute suits. Such indulgence, if you grant it, will facilitate and hasten the voluntary discharge of debts, which, before I assumed them, you are sensible that I could not have been legally compelled to pay. For inducement to such lenity, permit me to point out the fund, whence your claims shall be acquitted, and also the time when. The time, if you consent to forbear the institution of suits, (which imply delay and unnecessary costs) shall not exceed six months from this date. The fund accrues from the result of the final decree rendered in Nov. 1816, in the case of Carter and others against Cutting and others, by the operation of which more than fifty thousand dollars, principal and interest and costs, have been adjudged due to this family. My undisputed and indisputable interest, in a portion of this fund, is adequate, and shall by me be applied to satisfy all your demands upon this family. The original amount of those demands you know that I have diminished by repeated payments heretofore made; and recently, by an assignment of three years' rents of the Parke Estate; and finally, by the absolute sale of my own slaves to exonerate those of minors, that otherwise could not have been delivered to the young owners. Moreover, in proof of my zeal to obtain proper means for the extinction of your just demands against the family of my adoption, I can, without ostentation, refer you to the unwearied toil and prudence of my general proceedings, which indeed have not been relaxed during the past ten years. Not one of you, I think, will deny, that my course has been marked by an inflexible adherence to justice, self-denial, industry and frugality—humble qualities (it is true) and often neglected by lofty people; yet, nevertheless, which persons, in circumstances of mediocrity, appreciate on account of their moral utility; qualities, that for such as exercise them, ensure ultimate fidelity to engagements, and which are peculiarly estimable in correct debtors, because they both cherish the ability and evince the resolution to satisfy their just creditors.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

Rich Kenhawa Lands for Sale or Barter.

I WILL sell or exchange, for property in this district or its vicinity, a valuable tract of land in Mason county, Virginia, situate on the Great Kenhawa River, at the mouth of Eighteen Mile Creek, distant from Point Pleasant about eighteen miles. This tract binds upon the river, and contains by patent one thousand and fifty acres, a large proportion of which is rich bottom. The title is old, and indisputable, having been located and surveyed by Gen. Washington before the Revolution. What may be considered as adding much to its value is the passage of the western road thro' it. By a reference to Mr. Madison's map of Virginia, the situation of the land may be designated. Apply to Colonel Francis Peyton, or

ANN-ELIZA PEYTON.

For Sale,

A TRACT of land, lying on the North Fork of Quantico Creek, and only two miles from the town of Dumfries, (known by the name of Clifton) containing about 230 acres. About two thirds of this tract is in wood—a part of the cleared land well enclosed. There is on this tract a good dwelling house, stables, &c.; and convenient to the dwelling house a grist mill, containing two pair of stones—one of burr, new, five feet diameter; the other Cologne. The mill is lately built. Every part of the gear new, and completely fitted for merchant work. The mill better secured from floods than any I am acquainted with, having but 3 feet of dam, with a short race, to admit of fall for a twenty-four feet overshot water wheel. In fact, the land is of good quality; the situation handsome and healthy; the stream a good one; and the mill new, spacious, and well finished, and lying in the most direct rout for a great part of the produce that comes to Dumfries to pass it. Possession can be had immediately, and the terms known by application to me, at Dumfries.

Sully for Sale.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaister of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation; and those, now untilled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed: the outhouses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indispotable, and perfectly unincumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year, if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next the post-office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face blunted and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums,

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in
Consumptions	the stomach and
Lowness of spirits	back
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of blood	Melancholy
Hysteric'l affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses	Pains in the limbs
and debility	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
